

The 1st Snug School in the USA

The first school in the United States to use a Snug Play USA system was the Bright School in Chattanooga, Tennessee. The Bright School is an independent school serving students from pre-kindergarten through 5th grade.

Bright School was identified as an initial test site and partnership for feedback because the school is committed to “creating learning environment designed to stimulate critical thinking, creative inquiry, and intellectual achievement.” PlayCore partnered with Bright to get critical feedback on how Snug Play USA will benefit children in learning environments in the United States.
